Endless possibilities in design

With Axminster Sculpt, the possibilities are endless. The woven wool carpet is fully customisable and available in an extensive palette of colours, which can easily be combined for a unique outcome.

Maximise on the product's depth with designs that beautifully accentuate the difference in pile height, or combine complementary tones using the large selection available. To ensure the best results, our designers recommend using darker colours for the high piles and lighter colours for the low piles. Present light sources accentuate the texture beautifully, so there's no need to add shadows to your design, the difference in pile height will add shade naturally.

Looking for inspiration or need help creating your own bespoke design? At Tarkett we have dedicated Axminster designers that can support you in creating a product to meet your project objectives.

Premium quality DESSO Axminster

Axminster is a traditional woven carpet, developed over 250 years ago for royal residences. It is now used almost universally in the finest luxury hotels, resorts and casinos, due to its beauty and luxurious look and feel.

Our weaving technology is known for its ability to render complex patterns, clearly and crisply. Designed with three-ply yarn as standard, it offers excellent design clarity, improved durability and great retention of quality, even in the most heavily-trafficked areas.

DESSO Axminster carpets are produced with the finest materials, blended in-house using the most elegant and durable wool in the world. With an optimal blend of 80% premium wool and 20% nylon, our Axminster carpets bring the best of both in terms of comfort and quality.

Additionally, wool has a number of functional benefits compared to other materials, such as easy maintenance, water repellency, resilience and fire resistance. Combined with its natural non-allergenic, non-polluting and anti-static character, it is the ultimate user-friendly product. Nylon, on the other hand, offers outstanding durability, resulting in a quality blend that offers the best of both worlds.
