

Tarkett Earns Renewed ProCure23 Supplier Status

Tarkett, a global leader in innovative and sustainable flooring solutions, is proud to announce that it has been once again listed as an appointed supplier on the NHS ProCure23 (P23) Framework. Tarkett has been supporting the framework since its inception in 2016 and remains dedicated to researching, developing, and manufacturing flooring solutions that improve clinical outcomes and support staff, visitors, and patients.

"As healthcare environments continue to evolve, Tarkett remains committed to playing a crucial role in creating exceptional spaces that prioritize safety and sustainability," said Shaz Hawkins, Segment Marketing Manager – Healthcare, Aged Care & Education at Tarkett. "We are honoured to be a part of the ProCure23 Framework, which enables us to work closely with NHS partners and deliver innovative solutions that address the unique needs of the healthcare sector."

The ProCure23 (P23) Framework is a Construction Procurement Framework administered by the Department of Health to develop and deliver NHS and Social Care capital schemes and projects in the UK. The framework appoints suppliers to provide construction, design, and related services for NHS and other public healthcare projects, streamlining the procurement process and improving efficiency in the delivery of healthcare facilities.

Tarkett's renewed status as a ProCure23 supplier offers significant benefits to NHS partners in the UK. This designation simplifies the procurement process, granting access to proven healthcare flooring solutions and inspiring confidence in Tarkett's expertise and dedication to the sector. The P23 Framework enables NHS organisations to efficiently obtain Tarkett's innovative products designed to meet the strict requirements of healthcare environments, ensuring optimal performance, durability, and compliance.

Tarkett's diverse portfolio includes vinyl, linoleum, safety, carpet, static conductive, wet room, wall coverings, and accessories, catering to all areas of healthcare facilities. The company's focus on maintaining sterile medical environments is reflected in its flooring and wall solutions, which are designed to be easy to clean and resistant to stains and chemicals.

By renewing its ProCure23 supplier status, Tarkett solidifies its position as a reliable partner, supporting the healthcare community through its Tarkett Human-Conscious Design® approach and delivering innovative flooring solutions that prioritise the well-being of patients, medical staff, and the environment.
